Dear Parents,

Daily Update

Education Secretary Gavin Williamson has confirmed today that the UK government is not going ahead with its plan to see all English primary school pupils return to classes before the current term ends in July. This is no surprise as I am not sure how we could fit all children back into school when we are only supposed to have 12 in a class! I don't think that the Government Ministers learnt division in school. So this means that Year 2, 3, 4 and 5 children will not be returning to school until September at the earliest.

I have had the Risk Assessment returned from the Local Authority today and we are putting the last steps in to open for Reception, 30 hour Nursery children, Year 1 and Year 6 children on Monday 15th June. These are the children of the parents who have already told us that they will be returning to school.

If your circumstances have changed and you now require a place, you will need to call the school. We have a limit on the numbers we can have in school

I am sure there will be other changes before the end of term.

Kind Regards

Davina Clacy
