Dear Children

Daily Update

I am so excited today as I am moving my furniture into my new office. I have already put a book shelf in with my duck ornament (wearing his Bournemouth kit) in pride of place. Everybody who has seen the new build has said it is amazing.

We have Tarmacers in today who are making the Car Park look like new and covering the paths in the EYSF playground and the entrance into school. You will not recognise the place when you come back. I am so excited for you to see it. It is certainly the best school in the world.

The teachers are making fun of me because they say that I will not be able to keep my new office tidy as I am very messy. What do you think? Maybe I need to have Monitors to keep my office tidy.

I don't know if any of you have used the Google 3D Animal Ap. It is amazing. You can get Tigers and Pandas appearing in your living room. It is very exciting. Have a go. My sister, who is 52, really thinks she has her own pet Panda living in her house now. She is bonkers!

Mrs Spittle has picked a massive bag of Dandelions from her allotment and has brought them in for the bunnies. They are having a feast on them. Bertie and Billy are getting very fat. We will soon need a pram to wheel them around in!

Have a good day today. Don't give your parents a hard time and thank them for being amazing teachers!

Love Ms Clacy
